ABSTRACT

A production method for a solid polymer includes a step of preparing a polymer solution containing a polymer in which a crosslinked structure of a water-absorbent resin has been cleaved, and a step of bringing a poor solvent for the polymer into contact with the polymer solution to precipitate the polymer, thereby obtaining a polymer dispersion liquid in which the solid polymer is dispersed.