
ABSTRACT

The present application relates to an LEAPER-based method for targeted editing of RNA, which comprises: safely and effectively performing adenosine-to-inosine RNA editing (A-to-I RNA editing) by LEAPER in vivo, thereby the pathogenic mutation sites can be accurately repaired, and all diseases caused by G>A mutations, such as MPS IH, can be treated.