ABSTRACT

A compound having an action of suppressing platelet aggregation is provided. This compound also exhibits excellent physical properties and oral absorbability. This compound is represented by formula (Ib): Its production method is also provided.