ABSTRACT

INTERNET SECURITY

Redirection of user entered data to an unauthenticated web site is checked by, at redirection, detecting the presence of data entry fields in a user web page and, if any are present, authenticating the redirection address against lists of approved web sites or the redirection web site certificate. If the new address is not authenticated, the user may still opt to be redirected.

Fig. 1