TRANSPORT PRIORITIZATION BASED ON MESSAGE TYPE

ABSTRACT

A system for controlling message transmission in an apparatus. Messages pending for transmission in an apparatus may be analyzed in order to determine a type for each message. The type determined for each message may then be utilized to select a transport set comprising one or more transports. The apparatus may select a transport from the transport set and may then transmit the pending messages using the selected transport.

Fig.9