

Abstract

The present invention relates to a composition for the prevention or treatment of periodontal disease and a dental composite antibiotic ointment composition. The composition for 5 the prevention or treatment of periodontal disease according to the present invention comprises minocycline and metronidazole as active ingredients.

FIG. 1