

Abstract

A Surface Textured Wound Closure Material

There is provided a surface textured wound closure material comprising at least one polymeric layer and an absorbent layer, wherein the polymeric layer is disposed on at least one surface of the absorbent layer and having a plurality of imprints thereon to form a textured surface on the wound closure material.

(No suitable figure)