

ABSTRACT

MEASUREMENT RECORDING SYSTEM AND MEASUREMENT RECORDING METHOD

A measurement recording system is configured to measure timing information for correcting out-of-synchronization of a time axis between a first captured video and a second captured video and correct the out-of-synchronization to align the start timing between the first captured video and the second captured video based on the measured timing information.

FIG.1