

Alkylphenol for adjusting the molecular weight and copolycarbonate with improved properties

Abstract

The invention relates to the use of alkylphenols for adjusting the molecular weight of copolycarbonates and compositions of these copolycarbonates with additives chosen from the 5 group of heat stabilizers and mould release agents, the use thereof for the production of mouldings and mouldings obtainable therefrom.