

ABSTRACT

Provided are a sealing sheet having excellent flexibility and capable of producing an electronic component package which is highly reliable even if an object to be sealed has a hollow structure, a method for manufacturing the sealing sheet, and a method for manufacturing the electronic component package. The present invention is a sealing sheet containing dispersed domains of an elastomer, the domains having a maximum diameter of 20 μm or less.