

ADJUSTMENT OF SCAN VELOCITY MODULATION
AS A FUNCTION OF SELECTED SHARPNESS

ABSTRACT

A microprocessor generates an output signal in accordance with user controlled sharpness selection. The output signal is supplied to a video processor and to a scan velocity modulation circuit for concurrently varying in the same sense the amount of picture sharpness produced by the scan velocity modulation circuit and by the video processor.

10

FIGURE 1