

ABSTRACT

5 A microneedle patch according to one example includes a backing, an adhesive layer provided on the main surface of the backing, and a microneedle array at least a part of which is positioned within the adhesive layer, wherein the adhesive layer includes a water-soluble polymer and water, and a loss tangent of the adhesive layer under measurement conditions of an environmental temperature of 25°C and a frequency of 1 Hz is 0.20 to 0.41.