

【ABSTRACT】

The present invention provides flippers worn with shoes including: a fin portion including a body worn on the front of a shin of a user and formed in a plate shape, and an instep seating portion formed to be cut upward from a center of a lower side of the body, one or more
5 bands coupled to a side of the body in a direction perpendicular to a longitudinal direction of the body, and a pair of first fastening devices each coupled to both ends of the band to be fastened with each other.