

Marine Engine Lubrication

ABSTRACT

Trunk piston marine engine crankcase lubrication is effected by a composition that includes a nitrogen-containing ashless dispersant additive component in an amount providing in the range of 50 to 150 ppm N by mass to diminish loss of BN and diminish increase of viscosity during use of the composition without adversely affecting deposits performance.

No figure