

Abstract

An implement for storage at a constant temperature has two housings (21 and 22) that accommodate heat storage agents. One heat storage agent (41) is irremovably accommodated in one housing (21), and a hook-and-loop 5 fastener (30) for installation in a storage container is provided on the outer surface of the other housing (22).