

MODESTY PROTECTORS

Background of the invention

Page 1

This invention relates to the protection of the genital and chest area of the body of the patient/client during massage sessions by the patient/client wearing a piece of garment similar to panties/briefs and a brassiere for women which is worn over the breasts. Briefs are worn by both men and women.

This invention also relates to the legal protection of the massage therapist performing the massage and the modesty of the client/ patient.

Should there be any accidental touching of the breasts or genitals during a massage session in a clinic, hospital or private practice, the MODESTY PROTECTORS can protect both wearer and massage therapist.

Full body massage is required to remove all clothing except panties or briefs. The rest of the body is left naked. Towels are normally draped over the part of the body which is not being massaged. The rest of the body must be exposed for the massage therapist to do his or her job.

One session can last from 45 - 90 minutes depending on the reason for massage. This involves massaging the whole body, including the back, stomach, legs, thighs, upper buttocks, chest, face, neck and arms.

For women during a chest massage, the breasts are draped with a towel. No other protection is used for covering the breasts. When the thighs are massaged, one or two towels are used to cover the genital area. There is no other protection.

Towels slip off all the time due to normal body movement and it is necessary for the client to turn over to give the massage therapist access to the back or the front of the body during massage sessions.

Oil makes the hands and body slippery during massage. Accidental touching of the private areas such as the genitals and breasts is almost inevitable.

Wearing the MODESTY PROTECTORS can minimize the problems during these sessions.

This is the background and reason for my invention of the MODESTY PROTECTORS.

SUMMARY OF INVENTION

The MODESTY PROTECTORS consist of briefs and brassiere.

The briefs are to protect the genital area. The brassiere is to protect the chest/breast area of the body for women during massage sessions. The briefs are to be worn over the panties or male underwear and the brassiere is to be worn on the bare skin for women during massage sessions.

The briefs and brassiere will be in a lightly padded fabric which is stretchable for ease of movement. The briefs will be padded around the gusset/genital area so that the genitals cannot be seen or felt.

The appearance of the MODESTY PROTECTORS is like regular underwear, but slightly thicker in a different kind of fabric. Similar to 'bra and panties'. The main difference is the genital area is padded in the briefs and the brassiere is padded slightly at the front, with no straps over the shoulder.
