GAME SYSTEM

Abstract

An object of the present invention is to provide an environment in which many players can play conveniently regarding one game table.

A game system 100 for participating in a baccarat game includes a bet area 124 includes: a plurality of betting terminals 102 separated from the game table, including a plurality of bet targets including a player win area and a banker win area, and in which a bet is performed by placing a physical token at any of the bet targets; a bet determining device 23 configured to determine a bet target at which the physical token is placed and an amount thereof; and a collecting device 29 and a payment device 32 configured to collect the betted physical token or pay out for the betted physical token based on the bet target and the amount determined by the bet determining device 23 and a result of a baccarat game.

Fig. 1