(54) Title: IDENTIFICATION OF REPLAYED MARITIME VOYAGES

FIG. 3B

(57) Abstract: A method, product and system for identifying replayed maritime voyages. The method comprises obtaining location-reporting signals of a maritime vessel, reporting one or more respective sets of geographical coordinates. The method comprises determining that the location-reporting signals are at least partially fabricated, based on an identification that the location-reporting signals are part of a replayed voyage. The method further comprises performing an appropriate responsive action in response to determination of the fabricated signals.
