

THIS SHEET HAS BEEN REPLACED

RCA 86,248

6

ABSTRACT

In a telephone answering machine, a detector for a automatic disconnect function uses a first amplifier (30) to detect, amplify, and invert large input signal changes, and second amplifier (20) to detect small input signal changes and a logic arrangement (D2,R11) responsive to the output signals of the first and second amplifiers to detect the presence of only the small input signal changes.

This Sheet Has Been Replaced

