

DECODING DEVICE, ENCODING DEVICE, DECODING METHOD, AND ENCODING METHOD

ABSTRACT

A decoding device includes: a circuit; and a memory connected to the circuit, in which the circuit decodes, from a bitstream, an image and an identifier associated with the image, and the identifier indicates at least one of a fact that the image is suitable for task processing corresponding to the identifier and a fact that the image is not suitable for the task processing.

Figure 1