

METHOD OF DISPLAYING VISUAL INFORMATION ON A VIEWER

ABSTRACT

A display method uses a viewer (100) which senses machine-readable coded data (202), decodes the coded data (202), transmits the decoded data to a computer system, and receives in response from the computer system display data for display on a screen (102) and/or for playback via a speaker (106).

Figure 1