Abstract

Modular infrastructure device, infrastructure system and method for operating an infrastructure device

In order to provide an infrastructure device which is of variable design and can be used and extended in a flexible way, it is proposed that the infrastructure device is of modular design and comprises at least one base unit and one or more infrastructure units.

(FIG.6)