

ABSTRACT

The present application provides an interaction method and apparatus for interaction between accounts, and a computer device and a storage medium. The method comprises: displaying (201) a game preparation interface of a virtual game; in response to a trigger operation with respect to a target icon, displaying (202) an item selection area in the game preparation interface; and in response to an operation of using an target interaction item, playing (203) a target special effect animation of the target interaction item.

Figure 2