

Shock absorbing device for a mobile rotating on a staff

Abstract

5 The device comprises two spring components (1 and 1') placed on either side of the mobile, the spring components being made up of a series of blades (4) linking the circumference of the component to a central jewel hole (3) arranged to hold the staff of the mobile.

10

Figure 6