

ABSTRACT

Embodiments of the present disclosure provide a video recommendation processing method and apparatus, and an electronic device. The method comprises: at least one second user can recommend a video to a first user, during the recommendation of the video, the second user can add his/her own recommendation comments on the video, and the first user view, on the interface of a first client playing back the video, the comments of the at least one second user on the video, can also perform operations such as commenting and liking on the comments of the second user, and can also recommend the video to a third user, thereby achieving the purpose of communicating and commenting on the video by multiple persons at the same time, and improving the experience of recommending a video by a user.