ABSTRACT

The present invention provides a method for producing a megakaryocyte that maintains platelet production capacity, the method comprising a step of increasing the abundance of at least one protein constituting ubiquinol-cytochrome c reductase (UQCR) in the megakaryocyte.

[No suitable figure]