ABSTRACT

A method for indicating transmission, performed by a terminal, includes determining a symbol available for transmitting a physical uplink shared channel (PUSCH) in a plurality of slots based on first information sent by a network device, in which the symbol includes at least one of: a subband full-duplex (SBFD) symbol or a non-SBFD symbol.

FIG. 3