

A B S T R A C T

According to one embodiment, the verifying device sends, to the service providing device, the user identification information in the user identification 5 information certificate and the execution result that indicates properness when all the verification results are proper. the service providing device reads service user identification information associated with the user identification information in response to user 10 identification information and a verification result.
The service providing device sends the service information to the user terminal in accordance with the read service user identification information.

162162

G00002