ABSTRACT

APPARATUS AND METHODS FOR MANAGING POWER IN AN INFORMATION HANDLING SYSTEM

A method of controlling power supplies in an information handling system, comprising measuring a power consumption of each of a plurality of electrical devices in the information handling system and adjusting a number of operating power supplies based at least in part on the measured power consumption of each of the plurality of electrical devices.

FIG.2

162162

G00002