

ABSTRACTLIQUID-CRYSTAL-ON-SILICON DISPLAY WITH PHOTOLITHOGRAPHIC ALIGNMENT POSTS AND OPTICAL INTERFERENCE LAYERS

A method of forming an improved liquid-crystal-on-silicon display and resultant display is described, in which the device structure is enhanced by the photolithography building of alignment posts among the mirror pixels of the microdisplay.

(FIGURE 1 IS SUGGESTED FOR PUBLICATION)