ABSTRACT

Aspects relate to component carriers that are associated with an uplink control channel group. In some examples, data may be communicated on one of the component carriers and feedback for the data may be communicated on another one of the component carriers.

Fig. 15