

ABSTRACT

The effective control of one or more Unmanned Surface Vessels depends heavily on how an operator handles the huge amount of data or information that arrives at the base control station. A method of playback, reviewing and tagging images has been devised to assist the operator in this function.

FIGURE 1