

ABSTRACT

The present disclosure provides a multimedia interaction method, device, and equipment, and a storage medium. The multimedia interaction method is as follows. A multimedia interaction component of a teaching platform is called. A control instruction is acquired using the multimedia interaction component. Information is extracted based on the control instruction using the multimedia interaction component. The information is displayed or played through the multimedia interaction component.

[Figure 1]