COMPUTER SYSTEM AND METHOD FOR CALCULATING MARGIN

ABSTRACT

The present invention relates to a computer system, computerized method and computer program product for calculating margin requirements in a more efficient way. In particular it relates to margin calculations for being used by clearing house in order to optimize calculation of margin requirements.

Figure 1