

Abstract

The present invention discloses a method for automatically deleting instant messaging information. The method includes receiving, by an information transmission terminal, an automatic deletion command from a user of a transmitter, carrying the command in information to be transmitted, transmitting the information; 5 and receiving and playing or displaying, by an information receiving terminal, the information, determining whether the information carries the automatic deletion command, if the information carries the automatic deletion command, deleting the information automatically. In the present invention, the information is deleted 10 automatically according to a command of the user of the information transmission terminal after the information receiving terminal receives and plays the information.