

Process for preparing esters from formates and olefinically unsaturated compounds

Abstract

The invention provides a process for preparing esters from formates and olefinically 5 unsaturated compounds with catalysts based on palladium compounds. In addition, the invention discloses a polyphasic reaction mixture and nonyl methyl ester mixtures prepared by the process according to the invention.

No suitable figure