ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

INFORMATION DISCLOSURE CONTROL UNIT, INFORMATION DISCLOSURE CONTROL METHOD AND SERVICE PLATFORM COMPANY DEVICE IN SERVICE PROVISION SYSTEM

To provide an information disclosure control unit in a service provision system which enables transmission/reception of information between service receiving companies based on information to identify a destination of information disclosure.

In a service provision system which provides service to plural service receiving companies through plural service providing companies and a service platform company targeting the plural service providing companies, the service platform company collects information of each of the service receiving companies through the service providing companies, and information disclosure control means is provided to perform control so that at the time of sending the analysis information obtained by analyzing the information to the service receiving company, the service receiving company is identified based on information disclosure conditions in the information source of the service receiving company.

(FIG. 1)