ABSTRACT

METHOD AND SYSTEM FOR AUTHORISING TRANSACTIONS

A computer-implemented method and a system for authorising transactions, the computer-implemented method including: receiving a Bluetooth address of a companion device; establishing a Bluetooth connection with the companion device based on the Bluetooth address; receiving a biometric authentication result from the companion device via Bluetooth, the biometric authentication result representing a result of verifying a user's identify by biometric authentication; and processing a transaction based on the biometric authentication result.

FIG 1