

Abstract

A lintel and stiffener comprises a steel hollow section encased in an aerated lightweight concrete, adjustable top and bottom plates to allow for flexibility to cater to different height configurations, fibreglass mesh arranged between inner hollow section and outer aerated lightweight concrete layer to give added bonding between them, and fire resistant materials in the steel hollow section.