

[ABSTRACT]

A release sheet is a laminate including a substrate, and an intermediate layer and a release agent layer in this order on at least one surface side of the substrate, in which the intermediate layer is a layer formed from a composition for forming the intermediate 5 layer, the composition containing a silane-based compound (A) exhibiting polycondensation property by hydrolysis, and an acrylate compound (B).