ABSTRACT

The present invention relates to an etching composition and a method for manufacturing a semiconductor device using the same, wherein the etching composition comprises an inorganic acid; a first etching inhibitor; and a remaining amount of a solvent, and the first etching inhibitor contains at least two nitrogen atoms and includes a heterocyclic ring structure containing at least one nitrogen atom.

[Fig. 1]