METHOD OF INTRODUCING TARGET-SPECIFIC FOREIGN GENE

[ABSTRACT]

The present disclosure provides a hotspot useful for transformation of animal cells by TI (Targeted Integration). The hotspot of the present disclosure was found near LOC103164262 in the CHO cell genome. Alternatively, the present disclosure relates to transformed cells into which an exogenous DNA has been introduced into said hotspot, and a method of producing a polypeptide encoded by the DNA by culturing the cells.

[No Suitable Figure]