

Abstract

The present application provides a lifting device, a lifting control device and a method thereof, and an electronic guide plate control device and a method thereof, which can control the lifting or dropping of the spreader to accurately detect deviation and can perform inspection with high reliability according to the first point cloud data and the second point cloud data.

FIG. 1