

Abstract

The invention provides a process for producing high-purity 1-butene and high-purity isobutene from two C4 hydrocarbon streams, in which the two streams are in part processed together. The present invention furthermore also relates to an apparatus for carrying out the process according to the invention.

[No suitable figure]