

ABSTRACT

A composition contains a flowable material and a compatible material compatibilized with the flowable material. At least a portion of the compatible material is incompatibilized in an arbitrary part in the composition. In this manner, a pattern is formed.