Abstract

Method and Means for Processing Start Pages

The present application provides a method and means for processing start pages. The method comprises: a server receiving a start page setup request, the start page setup request being for commanding the setup of start pages for user groups; the server using the start page setup request as a basis for setting up a personalized start page adapted to the user group. The present application can perform personalized setup of start pages and improve the quality of apps.

(Fig. 1)