

ABSTRACT

5       A beer-taste beverage, containing a carbon dioxide-extracting product of a plant raw material containing fruit peels of a citrus plant. The present invention provides a beer-taste beverage which is capable of favorably providing an aroma component of a citrus plant and a method for producing the same, which can provide a new taste as luxury products.