

ACCESS POINT, TERMINAL, AND COMMUNICATION METHOD

ABSTRACT

In the present invention, an access point comprises a control circuit that generates a control signal that indicates uplink transmission of a plurality of terminals and that includes 5 information regarding the destination of uplink transmission for each of the plurality of terminals, and a transmission circuit that transmits the control signal.

[FIG. 15]