

ABSTRACT

INFORMATION TRANSMISSION METHOD AND COMMUNICATIONS DEVICE

This disclosure discloses an information transmission method and a communications device. The method includes: obtaining a reference object group containing at least two reference objects, where the reference objects contained in the reference object group are quasi co-located; and performing information transmission based on the reference object group.

Figure 3