

Title of invention:

Method For Enhancing Characteristics Of Plant

Abstraction

The present invention addresses the problem of providing a novel way of enhancing the characteristics of a plant without using genetic recombination. The present invention involves freezing plant tissue during a freezing step and then obtaining a liquid extract from the frozen plant tissue.

[Figure 2]